Next week is Catholic Schools Week. We will be having Craft Stations on Monday, Relay Races on Wednesday, and Movie Day on Friday. We will also be doing some fun dress up days. - Bryan

Monday is Wacky Day

Tuesday is Spirit Wear

Wednesday is Color Wars

Thursday is Hat Day

Friday is Pajama Day

In Math, we are learning about multiplying triple digit by double digit. I think it is easy because you just have to multiply the first number by the numbers on top, and then the second digit by the top numbers. - Jacob

This week in Science, we are learning about magnets. Magnets have two poles, a south and a north pole on each magnet. Opposite poles attract, while alike poles repel, just like charges. When we played with the magnets this week, we had some shaped like life savers or mints and when you put them on your pencil they would bounce when alike poles were facing towards each other. - Jade

In Reading, we read Eye of the Storm. The story was about Warren Faidley, and his job is to chase storms and take photographs of them. In this story, he was chasing Hurricane Andrew, in 1992. Many of his photos were in the story, and we could see actual damage from Hurricane Andrew. Some hurricanes can spin as fast as 200 mph. That's fast!! - Drake

In Social Studies this week, we are learning about the Southeast. We each got to pick out one state. I got Tennessee. Then we got the state's bird and flower. Axel, Drake, Bryan and my state's state bird is the mockingbird. We are now writing an ad about why you should live in the Southeast. - Joe

In Religion this week, we have been working on our beatitudes. We studied and played a game where you have to match the first half to the second half of each beatitude. It took me a few tries but I finally got it. It was easy but kind of hard. And there are eight beatitudes you know! - Lilly

This week in English we are learning past, present, and future verb tenses. When the verb ends in -ed then we know it is past tense. When the verb has no ending or an -s we know it is present tense. So, when the verb has a -will before it its future. That's a trick we learned from Mrs. P. - Sophie

On Monday, it was Friday. Because of the ice day on Friday, we didn't have school, so we had to play catch up by taking our end of the week tests. - Axel
