For reading this week, we took a test on Adelina's Whales. We all did great! On Thursday, we did a big poster of whale parts, Kinds of whales, and what whales do. Most of us did it on the Blue Whale. They were a lot of fun.

In religion this week, we learned about Advent. First, we watched a video on what it represents. The first candle represents hope, second peace, third joy, and fourth love. The first, second, and fourth candles are purple, and the third is pink. Then, we played a game about the Advent Candles. Ashlyn won in our group. We had so much fun. – Lauren

On Friday, we volunteer to unload a truck full of food at the Food Shelf. We even brought a little bit. Wow! there was a lot of food there. Thankfully we unloaded all of it. For a reward, we all got apples. YAY! Big, red, juicy apples. They were really good. So that's all I'm writing about folks! – Carter

On Thursday after mass, we got "trained" how to serve. It was very fun. First, Father Joe showed us how to put the white robes on. Next, the belts that look like strings. Father Joe tells us to wear either the red, brown, or white belt. After that, Father Joe showed us how to light and put out the candles. Lastly, we went through the whole mass. I carried the cross up the first time and it was HEAVY! As you can see it is going to be fun to serve. – Emali

This week in math, we finished learning about angles such as acute, obtuse, and right. Acute is 1 – 89 degrees, obtuse is 91-179 degrees and right is 90 degrees. We took our test on Friday. – Zachary.

This week in science, we took our test on the water cycle. On Thursday, we learned about matter. There are three forms of matter we are learning about: solids, liquids, and gasses. Solid matter is all squished together. Liquid matter is moving around, and gas matter barely touched each other. It was cool to learn.

In English this week, we learned about linking and action verbs. Linking verbs tell what the subject is or what the subject is like. (am, is, are, was, were) Action verbs show action that the subject is doing. (gave, think, ran) It was awesome. – Gabe

When we came back from Specials on Wednesday, we got an elf for the classroom. He is Santa's eyes and ears for the class! His magic would only start once we gave him a name, and when we gave him a name, we COULD NOT TOUCH HIM! So, we came up with names. Carter wanted Hungry Guy (I suppose he was hungry) and some others chose Charlie Finn and others chose Finn Guy. It ended up a tie. So, in the end, his name was Charlie Finn Guy and now he hides around the room. "He is hiding somewhere right now!" - Ashlyn

Winter is here, please bring extra gloves if you have them.—Have a great weekend! - Mrs. P and the 4th Graders.
