READING

They finished their last story in unit #1 in the text book, Shutting out the Sky. It was an example of Expository Nonfiction. In English they are working on the chapter review.

RELIGION

We are working on Saints for All Saints Day. They are researching about a saint and they will be able to dress up representing their saint at Mass on Thursday.

They should try to work on their costumes at home.

MATH

They are working on multiplication. They have been practicing with flash-cards. They are able to do one, two, and three—digit multiplication.

SOCIAL/Science

They read in the book about how to classify. They did an activity on classifying beans. They did an experiment on water movement in plants.

They are busy constructing their villages for social. They journaled about current events.

AT THE CEMETERY

*Our Halloween party will be on Wednesday. We will watch a movie and have popcorn and snacks. They may bring something to share. They may bring their costumes. We will have a parade in the morning.
